

PRESS RELEASE

Food Logistics Names Robocom Systems International To the FL100 List of Top Technology Providers for 2009

Farmingdale, NY, December 14, 2009 - Robocom Systems International, a global provider of Supply Chain Execution Software today announced that the company has again been selected by Food Logistics to the FL100 for 2009.

Each year, the editors of Food Logistics recognize 100 technology and solution providers that help grocery and foodservice distributors and manufacturers reach their business goals. This year, the magazine focused the theme on managing change through hard economic times with technology.

"The FL100 listing provides a guide for decision-making grocery and foodservice distribution and manufacturing executives", explains Katherine Doherty, editor-in-chief of Food Logistics magazine. "These companies rely on technology to better manage their supply chains and help weather the financial storm. The FL100 recipients have demonstrated that they can meet our readers' specific needs."

Fred Radcliffe, President of Robocom said, "We are pleased to have been recognized by Food Logistics as one of the top technology providers to the food industry for the third consecutive year. Over the past year we have made many enhancements to our solutions including improved integration of our Labor Management and Voice Picking Systems and compliance with Produce and Food industry traceability requirements. This award from Food Logistics confirms that our focus on helping our customers realize cost reductions in these tough economic times has been recognized."
